DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed November 25, 2008 has been entered. Claims 1-4 are amended; claims 5-10 were previously withdrawn.
2. Claims 1-4 are under examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the admitted prior art (APA; paragraph references to US 2005/0263207) in view of Saitoh (US 6,228,153).
- Regarding claim 1, the APA discloses a method of introducing a plastic raw material liquid (¶5). The method includes positioning a liquid delivery unit for drawing in and discharging fluid (¶5; fig. 5), discharging flow of the plastic raw material liquid from the liquid delivery unit and introducing the combined plastic raw material liquid into a casting polymerization mold (¶5; fig. 5).
- The APA fails to disclose positioning a plurality of delivery units parallel to each other, discharging flows of the liquid at different times from each other from the units, and combining the flows of the liquid discharged from the units with each other.

However, Saitoh discloses a method of introducing a liquid (abstract) which includes positioning a plurality of delivery units each for intermittently drawing in and discharging a fluid at a constant rate (figs. 4a, 4c, 9a; col. 5, lines 6-20; col. 10, lines 20-53) parallel to each other (figs. 4a, 4c, 9a; col. 5, lines 6-20), discharging flows of the liquid at different times from each other from the liquid delivery units (col. 5, lines 17-20; col. 10, lines 20-53), and combining the flows of the liquid discharged from the liquid delivery units (figs. 4a, 4c, 9a; col. 5, lines 6-20). As taught by Saitoh, this configuration effectively removes air bubbles and stabilizes the liquid (fig. 4c'; col. 10, lines 21-53). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the method of introducing a plastic raw material liquid of the APA with the delivery unit configuration of Saitoh in order to stabilize and remove air bubbles from the liquid, as taught by Saitoh (col. 10, lines 20-53).

- Regarding claim 2, Saitoh discloses the liquid delivery units drawing in and discharging the plastic raw material liquid by moving a plunger back and forth in a cylinder to change the volume of the cylinder (col. 5, lines 15-20).
- Regarding claim 3, Saitoh discloses an accumulator for changing the volume of a fluid depending on the pressure of the fluid disposed in a flow passage for the combined plastic raw material liquid (col. 10, lines 40-45; fig. 4c').
- Regarding claim 4, the APA discloses a filter (53) being disposed in a flow passage for the combined plastic raw material liquid (fig. 5; ¶5).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
